Stop the Flu Before It Starts

By Janet Collins, MD, MPH

It's that time of year again. The leaves are starting to turn, the evenings are getting cool, and we have to start thinking about the coming winter. One of the things to think about as winter approaches is preventing the seasonal flu. There has been much talk lately about the avian "bird" flu, which, fortunately has not made its way across the Atlantic to the U.S. at this time. Seasonal flu however, comes predictably every fall and stays for a good portion of the winter.

The seasonal flu is a contagious respiratory illness caused by influenza viruses. The virus is spread mainly from person to person through coughing or sneezing, although it can be picked up via contact with contaminated surfaces. These viruses can cause mild to severe illness, and in some cases can be fatal. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), between 5% and 20% of people in the U.S. get the seasonal flu each year, more than 200,000 are hospitalized with flu complications, and 36,000 die from the seasonal flu.

Flu symptoms may be mild or severe. They can include headache, runny nose, cough, sore throat, and generalized aches and pains. Some people, especially kids, may experience nausea, vomiting and diarrhea upset as well. In some cases, complications can develop and may include bacterial pneumonia, ear infections, sinus infections, dehydration, and worsening of chronic medical conditions, such as congestive heart failure, asthma, or diabetes.

There are ways to minimize risk of developing seasonal flu. Keeping yourself in good health is an important means to decrease risk of severe flu symptoms. The most significant action you can take is to get a yearly flu shot. The flu shot is an inactivated vaccine (containing killed virus) that is given with a needle, usually in the arm. The flu shot is approved for use in people older than 6 months, including healthy people, and people with chronic medical conditions. The CDC recommends flu shots for people at higher risk of developing serious complications including persons with chronic diseases like diabetes or lung disorders, pregnant women, individuals over the age of 50, and anyone else who wishes to reduce their chances of getting the flu. People who have a severe allergy to chicken eggs or those who have had a bad reaction to a flu shot in the past should not get the vaccine. People who have a moderate or severe illness with a fever should wait to get vaccinated until their symptoms lessen. You should get the flu shot in October or November to assure optimum timing. Flu season can begin as early as October and can last as late as May. Since the strains of flu can vary from year to year, the vaccine is updated yearly too. This means that the flu shot you got last year will not protect you from the strains circulating this year. This year's exotic sounding strains are: A/Solomon Islands/3/2006, A/Wisconsin/67/2005, and B/Malaysia/2506/2004.

Some people experience discomfort or redness at the vaccine injection site. Others have reported low-grade fevers or aches after getting the flu shot. These effects are usually mild. You cannot get the flu from the flu shot, as the vaccine is prepared from killed virus. People can actually spread the flu to others even before they themselves have developed any symptoms.

This year there is plenty of vaccine to go around. That means that anyone who wants to get vaccinated should be able to do so without difficulty.

In summary, getting the flu shot on a yearly basis is a safe way to decrease your risk of getting the seasonal flu and its complications.

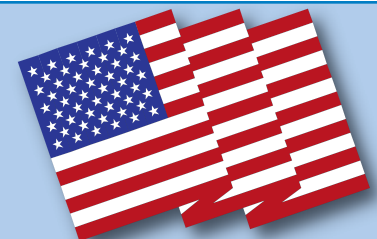

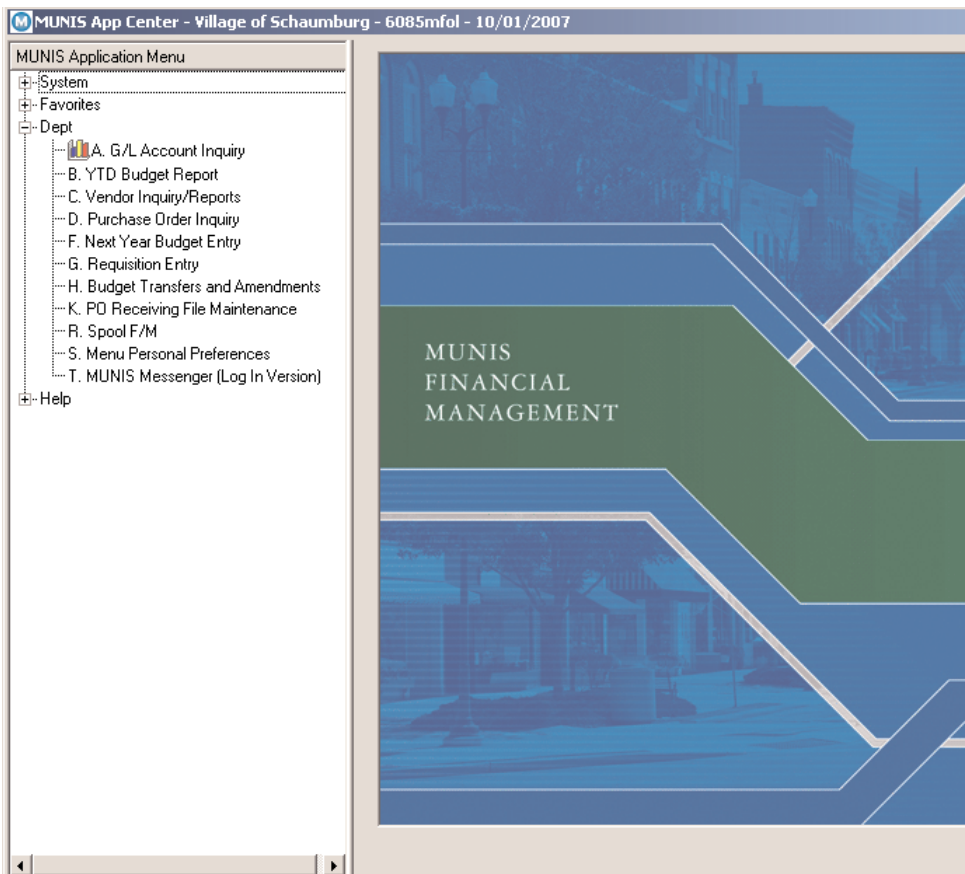

MUNIS Project Update by Sam Ferguson

The Munis implementation continues to march on. Since our last communication, the various teams have been working on all aspects of the next systems to go live. Next up to go live is business licenses.

You will be able to go online in the near future to the Munis Communication Database within our Notes Applications and pull up the individual module being implemented. You will be able to see the module timeline with major milestones, a detailed training calendar, as well as outstanding issues and resolutions. This outline feature is a work in progress, but our intent is to be as transparent as possible with the Munis implementation.

People have been working hard and this last quarter individuals within IT were recognized for their efforts. Michelle Barnes and Igor Bekker each received the "Munis Man" recognition and the IT Department was recognized with a "Munis Man" breakfast. Continue to look for Munis Man coming to your department as you assist with this important village project.

Honoring Those Who Served

Employees will be given an opportunity to post photos and stories about serving in the military in the lunch room of the village hall. Information may be posted on yourself or a family member to share with your colleagues.

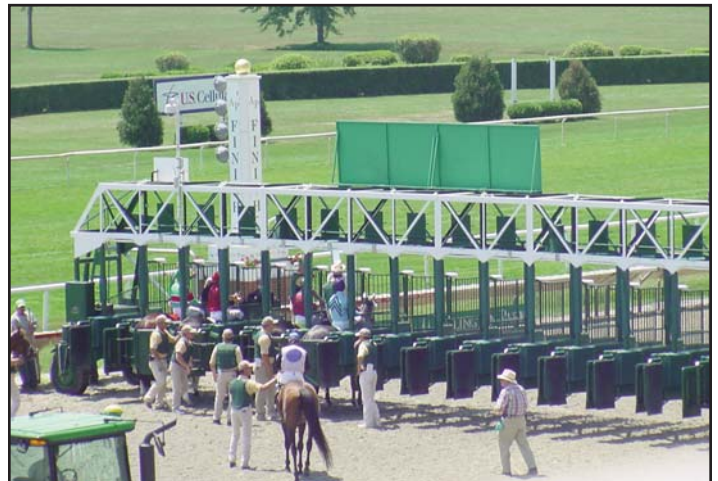

Just bring your info to the lunchroom and post under the banner that reads, "Support Our Service Personnel."

Know Your Benefits — Benefit Terminology —

Many people are familiar with some of the more common terms related to their benefit plans such as "deductible" or "beneficiary." But a recent study suggests that a large number of employees do not understand many of the words and phrases that are frequently used in the world of employee benefits. In order to adequately ly understand how your plans work, what your responsibilities are, and how to make informed decisions, it is important to understand the terminology.

You have an excellent resource available where you can find the definition to almost any benefit-related term. It is located in the Employee Benefit Center. To access this valuable information, go to the Lotus Notes Main Menu and click on "Employee Services" then on "Employee Benefit Center." When it opens, scroll down to the bottom of the blue bar on the left side of the page and click on "Other Resources." Under that you will see "Glossary" (you may have to scroll down a bit to see it). Open the glossary and you will find hundreds of terms related to benefits and financial planning.

Please take advantage of this resource. You will find that there is a great deal of other useful information that can be found on the Employee Benefit Center.

Thank You

Debbie Diamond recently nominated Volunteer Betty Hlad and her dog Bailey for the Director's Letter of Appreciation. In 2003, Debbie was asked by the Crime Prevention Unit to speak at their annual Safety Park classes about animal safety with children. Debbie enlisted the help of Volunteer Betty Hlad who is involved in animal rescue with Chicagoland Dog Rescue. She knew that Betty had an American Staffordshire Terrier named Bailey. After meeting Bailey, Debbie asked Betty if she would like to participate in her training at Safety Park and bring along Bailey to meet and greet the kids. They enlisted Bailey's help to teach the children how to be safe around dogs and to teach them the proper way to approach a dog. The village would like to thank Betty and Bailey for their dedication to this program.

Retiree News

SCHAUMBURG POLICE DEPARTMENT RETIREES

Police retiree's enjoyed another brunch in July at the Egg Basket. Everyone got caught up on each other's lives. Pat Minarcik typed up some notes received from out of towners who were unable to attend. Jim Kuzel is enjoying his retirement in Tucson, Arizona. Tom Ostermann included a picture of himself with his granddaughter in their swimming pool in Florida.

Jim Herman reports that his youngest daughter is a First Class Petty Officer in the Navy aboard the USS Abraham Lincoln. He is busy working for the Mount Prospect Police Department, assisting the Evanston PD by fixing their antiquated property room, or running the Illinois Association of Property and Evidence managers. After all that, he tries to find time for a little fishing and playing with his five grandkids. He recently welcomed a second grandson to the family.

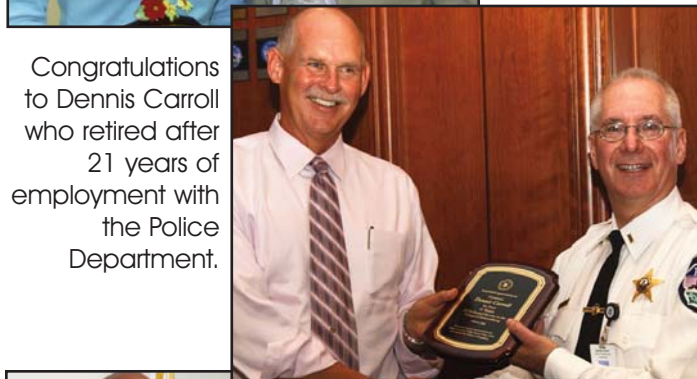

The group was sorry to hear that Chief Ken Alley had a stroke. He is at home recovering. He said he feels fortunate that his face and speech have not been affected. A card or call would be appreciated: 109 Gilford Terrace, Fairfield Glade, TN 38558; phone - 931.707.5181.

The group was also sad to hear that Chief Bob Hammond was diagnosed with ALS two years ago. His wife and daughter are there to help him out. He would enjoy hearing from old timers and can be reached by mail at: 1060 Mt. Beulah Road, Windsor, SC 29856; phone - 803.649.9892.

Inge Scholz would like to thank the village for the Employee Appreciation Outing at Arlington Park Race Track. It was a perfect day and beautiful event!

Congratulations to Dennis Carroll who retired after 21 years of employment with the Police Department.

Congratulations to Fess Cloonan who retired on October 1 with 31 years of employment with the village.

Dennis Cerqua (PD) with Mike Prafke (left), retired after working for the village for 31 years.

In Memory...

In memory of David Grandt who reached his 30 year anniversary with the Schaumburg Fire Department in July. Most recently, Dave was Schaumburg's Emergency Services Coordinator.

Grandt grew up in Arlington Heights, attended St. Peter Lutheran School and graduated from Arlington High School in 1970.

He went on to work for the family-owned service station, Grandt Shell in Arlington Heights, and joined a volunteer fire department.

When the Schaumburg Fire Department started hiring, Grandt applied for and got a job. He went to paramedic school with a couple other trainees, David Schumann and Terrance Simale, who are now the department's chief and deputy chief, respectively.

Dave made a career out of helping those who needed it most. He will be missed by all who knew him.

Pandemic Preparedness

The United States has been working closely with other countries and the World Health Organization (WHO) to strengthen systems to detect outbreaks of influenza that might cause a pandemic.

The effects of a pandemic can be lessened if preparations are made ahead of time. Planning and preparation information and checklists are being prepared for various sectors of society, including information for individuals and families and may be found at Pandemicflu.gov.

HHS and other federal agencies are providing funding, advice, and other support to Illinois to assist with pandemic planning and preparation. The federal government will provide up-to-date information and guidance to the public through the public media and its web site (Pandemicflu.gov) should an influenza pandemic unfold. It is recommended that you add this site to your "favorites" to allow quick access. This website and other information are also available via the Discussion Database under "Employee Interest."

Special Thanks...

Firefighter Steve Johnson would like to thank the paramedics who saved his life on May 27. They are FF/PM John Schumacher, FF/PM Mike Hansen, and FF/PM Andy Neuburger. Steve Johnson was working out at the firehouse that morning when he developed chest pain. He went out to the ambulance where the other firefighters were training. He was hooked up the monitor and it showed that he was having a heart attack. While en route to the hospital, Johnson went into cardiac arrest and had to be shocked five times. When they arrived at the hospital, he was awake and talking. Now he is doing fine and recovering nicely. Thanks to the quick actions and early defibrillation efforts, Johnson is alive to tell his story!
