

Noah A. Simon is the City Manager in Lexington, Virginia, serving there since October, 2014. Noah's local government background includes positions of Assistant County Manager of Floyd County, Georgia; Director of Community Development for City of Fortney, Texas; Assistant City Administrator in Arden Hills, Minnesota; and Assistant Town Manager in Culpeper, Virginia. Noah holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science from Emory University and a Master of Public Policy degree from American University.

Frank W. Friedman is a graduate of Lexington High School and a graduate of Hampden-Sydney College with a degree in Economics. Friedman began his career with First Union Bank in Jacksonville Florida. From 1993 to 1997 Friedman continued his work with First Union in Richmond and happily returned to Lexington in 1997. He has worked professionally as a financial advisor with CornerStone Investment Services since 2011 in Lexington. Friedman has shown his passion and commitment to serving Lexington with 7 years on the Lexington School Board and 8 years on the Lexington City Council. Friedman was elected Mayor and began his tenure in 2017.

Chief Samuel Roman is a native of Brooklyn, New York. In 1992, after serving in the United States Marine Corps in Quantico, Virginia, he relocated to Roanoke, where he began his career in public service with the Roanoke Police Department, quickly moving through the ranks. In January 2012, he was promoted to his rank of Captain and assigned to the Services Division. 2014, he was promoted to Deputy Chief, commanding the Operations Division of the Department. This division encompassed the Patrol Bureau, Community Response Teams, School Resource Officers, K-9 Program, Animal Protection Unit and the Traffic Safety Unit, crime analysts and the Office of Accreditation. Chief Roman worked very closely with the community and could usually be found at community events interacting with what he describes as one of the most enjoyable aspects of his job; the community. Chief Roman retired from the Roanoke Police Department in September, 2017, becoming the Chief of the Lexington Police Department on October 2, 2017.